What's happening on METConn?

METConn proudly hosts numerous Communities of Practice (CoPs) spanning a wide array of topics. Each Community of Practice serves as a dedicated forum where professionals, job seekers, employers, educators, and industry leaders connect and collaborate. These communities foster a culture of continuous learning and support professional development for all participants. By joining a CoP on METConn, individuals gain access to valuable insights and a vibrant network in their area of interest.

METConn also arranges its subjects by Hubs. Hubs are geographic areas that allow people to engage with others regionally. Users select the Hubs they prefer to be active in, one does not need to live within the Hub to register for one. Hubs are where innovation happens: here, you can share industry events, field trips, professional development opportunities, networking, mentoring, collaborations, and meetups. Your expertise, curiosity, and drive are what make the Hubs thrive and foster a vibrant community of innovators.

Whether you are using our CoPs or our Hubs. It is easy to connect with other professionals, find news & events, or take trainings to help you further your career or technical skills.
